Art Unit: 3723

1. Claims 1, 4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In claim 1, lines 14-15, "whereby travel of the cap into the outboard end of the passageway is limited" constitutes new matter unsupported by the original disclosure.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cunningham in view of Berneiser, Warwzyniak or Nasiell.

Cunningham discloses all of the claimed subject matter except for having a tensioning band. Berneiser (element "20"), Warwzyniak (element "50") or Nasiell (element "8") disclose a tensioning band. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the device of Cunningham with a tensioning band to protect the tool or to maintain pressure on the workpiece as taught by Berneiser, Warwzyniak or Nasiell (element "8").

Note that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. The device of Cunningham is capable of engaging caps.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

5. Applicant's arguments filed July 13, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the tensioning band of the present invention sets to limit the travel of the cap into the passageway past the tensioning band. Applicant's arguments are unsupported by the original disclosure. Additionally, figure 3 of the instant application clearly shows that it is the workpiece itself (the valve stem) that limits the travel of the cap into the passageway. This travel is nowhere near the tensioning band "24".

Cunningham, in combination with the teaching of Berneiser, Wawrzyniak or Nasiell, clearly discloses an intermediate portion that may be resiliently deformed out of alignment since the band does not surround the whole length of the removal unit as shown in figures 1-2 of Berneiser, figures 1-3 of Wawrzyniak, and figure 4 of Nasiell.

Art Unit: 3723

Note that the bands of Berneiser, Wawrzyniak or Nasiell are capable of limiting the travel of the workpiece into the passageway past the tensioning band dependent upon the size of the workpiece.
